Greenback Movement at Clarksville.

The Greenback men held a County Convention at Clarksville on Tuesday, and nominated a full county ticket, with John J. Davis, with a view, as we are informed, of making him their candidate for Congress as soon as a conference with the representatives of the District can be held. The Greenbackers of the two Democratic candidates for the House of Representatives in Harrison county were on hand at the Convention for the purpose of securing an endorsement, but they failed and the independent movement goes on. It was reported at New Martinsville that the Greenbackers of that town would support a man named Greenback, who was a son of one of the Greenbackers of Harrison county, a man of some ability. They prefer a man who is more favorably known.

Henry Harrison and the New Martinsville Convention.

It is a part of the unwritten history of the New Martinsville Democratic Convention that the Lewis county delegation were the friends of Good and Jackson to go to their hold and go for Henry Harrison of that county, if his delegation would combine on him. Mr. Harrison had refused the use of his name unless the delegates from his county would first agree to go with him. It was urged on the delegates that they would only combine on him, this, however, they refused to do, and so Mr. B. name was introduced as a "black horse" into the Convention. Col. Ben had apparently up to this time so solid that nothing could be done to get him out of the race, but he could not vote for Mr. Harrison. This information has crept out in the last day or two. It seems that John Henry Harrison and John Watson (a Good delegate) had a fight over the Convention since they reached home, and that they and others are inclined to discontinue information as to what occurred behind the scenes in the land of West.

CAMP MEETINGS.

Bar's Mills.

The militia of Thomas Rosser, of Ohio, who was killed on the 10th of the month at Roanoke Station, Virginia, was brought home a day or two ago and laid. His brother, Mr. Charles Rosser, son of the late Rosser, and gave up some account of the terrible tragedy by which his brother lost his life. It seems that Thomas Rosser was an engineer on a steamship, and was on duty at the time of the disaster. He was carrying a number of articles in his arms, which he had been purchasing for the boat, and the steamer sank in the back, dragging into his body two large pistol belts and afterwards leading in his skull with one of the pistols. Mr. Rosser says that he could not learn of any special cause of offence that his brother had given, and the murder was considered as a tragedy in its character that he was killed. Mr. Rosser feels under great obligations for the kindness and sympathy extended toward him during his melancholy visit to the scene of his brother's death.

Old Time Documents.

Had a pleasant call yesterday from Mr. Leonard Forsythe, of Texas, son of the late James H. Forsythe, of this city, and a brother of Hamilton Forsythe, recently deceased. He is a native of this city, but for many years has resided in Texas, with the exception of a few years' visit some years ago, has not been in Wheeling for over a quarter of a century. Mr. Forsythe resides in Gillespie county, Texas, where he has a large estate, and he and one of his sons are expected. He seems to be in good health and that country but admits that he has some drawbacks and says that there is no better country, take it all in all, than his native soil here on the banks of the Ohio.

White here has been looking over some of his father's old papers, and among other queer documents resuscitated the following paper, found familiar to some of the old citizens of Wheeling and Forsythe families in their day here.

Yonah, to Wit:

YELLOW FEVER.

Terrible Mortality at Grenada.

RAPID INCREASE AT MEMPHIS.

A General Panic at All Exposed Points.

The Victims on the Porter on Shore at Last.

One of them at Sloan's, a Few Miles Above Steubenville.

Some Others at Middleport, Ohio.

The Pestilence Irresistible as an Army with Banners.

Liberal Contribution from all Points for the Suffering Towns.

St. Louis, August 21.—The live stock dealers of this city have made up a fund of $500 for the benefit of the yellow fever sufferers at the South, two hundred dollars of which will be sent to the Howard Association at New Orleans, the same amount to the Howard Association at Memphis, and one hundred dollars to Grenada, Miss. The Hebrew Men's Literary Association also raised over two hundred dollars for the same purpose, and appointed a committee to solicit additional subscriptions.

The Merchants' Exchange, through its President, George Bais, and Secretary, George A. Morgan, and a number of prominent members of the city, have issued a circular, emphatically declaring that, notwithstanding reports to the contrary, yellow fever does not exist here, that no case of the disease was ever known to be contracted here, and that people from all parts of the country are invited to come to St. Louis for business, and that the city is a safe place to visit. They admit that four cases were brought from the South which developed here after the arrival of the patients, but no original case has occurred, nor is it believed possible that any can occur.

New Orleans, August 21.—New case 107, deaths 40.

Memphis, August 21.—Reports from the various relief committees and the Board of Health up to noon to-day, show that the hopes of abatement yesterday were at least premature. Last evening and this morning there was quite an increase in the number of new cases. Twenty-five new cases have been reported from 9 o'clock yesterday evening to noon to-day. There is an increase in the death rate also; the Howard's alone reported eight deaths. The feature developed this morning is that no part of the city is immune from the pestilence. The relief is being received by the Citizens' Committee daily, and many persons are using of tents to get their families out of the city.

Washington, August 21.—The Israelites held a meeting last evening and subscribed $180 to the yellow fever sufferers of the South.

Chattanooga, August 21.—Mrs. N. Schwarzenberg, of Memphis, died here of yellow fever, contracted before leaving home. The hotel is full of refugees; no fears are entertained.

CAIRO MODIFIES HER QUARANTINE REGULATIONS.

Cairo, August 21.—The Board of Health this afternoon so far modified the quarantine regulations as to permit all down steamboats to land, provided they will not knowingly receive freight or passengers that have recently arrived from yellow fever infected districts. The quarantine physicians to a clean bill of health. Trains from Milan, on the Mississippi Central and the local trains of the Iron Mountain Railroad will be permitted to come into the city under the same regulations. The Board of Health is now in session, and the local trains of the Iron Mountain Railroad will be permitted to come into the city under the same regulations.
